Hello, Ms. Higbee:

As requested, enclosed is a copy of "Asian Ways for Children," presented and hosted by Maorong Jiang, Ph.D., and Director of the Asian World Center at Creighton University. This program showcased the cultural differences of how children in western cultures are raised versus how children in eastern cultures are raised.

I understand it took you more than an hour talking with Cox Communications in order to find a way to contact us here at CTI22. I sincerely regret the roadblocks that often prevent citizens of Omaha from discovering their rightful access to Omaha's only community access television station, and I personally thank you for exercising due diligence to contact us.

I'm happy you found this program so enjoyable, and that you'll share it with your grandchildren, family and friends.

As you mentioned during our brief telephone conversation, although you're new to discovering CTI22, please know we take great pride in broadcasting a wide variety of content, which reflects the robust interests of and requests we receive from citizens of Omaha. By the way, the regularly scheduled broadcast for the "Asian World Center" is Wednesdays at 10:30 p.m., however, we also routinely "showcase" many of our programs on the Community Calendar, which runs from 12:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and 12:00 a.m. to 8:00 a.m., on Sundays. In this regard, if you have a text-based, audio, or video announcement (church dinner, community meeting, music concert, fund raising event, etc.) that you'd like to post, at no cost, on the Community Calendar, please feel free to send it to me via email or U.S. Mail!

Again, thank you, for watching CTI22!

Sincerely,
